Dedication of Merit

by Rev. Heng Sure

May every living being,
Our minds as one and radiant with light,
Share the fruits of peace with hearts of goodness, luminous and bright.

If people hear and see,
How hands and hearts can find in giving,
unity, may their minds awake,
to Great Compassion, wisdom, and to joy.

May kindness find reward.
May all who sorrow leave their grief and pain;
May this boundless light,
Break the darkness of their endless night.

Because our hearts are one
This world of pain turns into Paradise.
May all become compassionate and wise,
May all become compassionate and wise.

Verse of the Kesa

How great the robe of liberation,
 A formless field of benefaction!
 Wrapping ourselves in Buddha's teaching,
 We free all living beings.

Four Great Bodhisattva Vows

Beings are numberless;
 I vow to free them.
 Delusions are inexhaustible;
 I vow to end them.
 Dharma gates are boundless;
 I vow to enter them.
 The Buddha way is unsurpassable;
 I vow to embody it.

Gatha on Opening the Sutra

The dharma, incomparably profound and infinitely subtle, is rarely encountered, even in hundreds of thousands of millions of ages. As we see it, hear it, receive and maintain it, may we completely realize the Tathagata's true meaning.

Universal Dedication

Gatha of Atonement

All evil karma ever committed by me

On account of my beginningless greed, anger, and ignorance,
Born of my body, mouth, and thought,
Now I atone for it all.

Heart of Great Perfect Wisdom Sutra

(Maka Hannya Haramitta Shingyo)

Avalokiteshvara Bodhisattva, when deeply practicing Prajna Paramita, clearly saw that all five aggregates are empty and thus relieved all suffering.

Shariputra,
form does not differ from emptiness, emptiness does not differ from form, form itself is emptiness, emptiness itself form, sensations, perceptions, formations, and consciousness are also like this.

Shariputra,
all dharmas are marked by emptiness;
they neither arise nor cease,
are neither defiled nor pure, neither increase nor decrease.

Therefore, given emptiness, there is no form, no sensation, no perception, no formation,
no consciousness;

no eyes, no ears, no nose, no tongue,
no body, no mind; no sight, no sound,
no smell, no taste, no touch,
no object of mind; no realm of sight,
no realm of mind consciousness.

Morning Service A

9

There is neither ignorance nor extinction of ignorance ... neither old age and death, nor extinction of old age and death;
no suffering, no cause, no cessation, no path;
no knowledge and no attainment.

With nothing to attain, a Bodhisattva relies on Prajna Paramita, and thus the mind is without hindrance. Without hindrance, there is no fear.

Far beyond all inverted views, one realizes nirvana. All Buddhas of past, present, and future rely on Prajna Paramita and thereby attain unsurpassed, complete, perfect enlightenment.

Therefore, know the Prajna Paramita as the great miraculous mantra, the great bright mantra,
the supreme mantra,
the incomparable mantra, which removes all suffering and is true, not false.

Therefore, we proclaim the Prajna Paramita mantra,
the mantra that says:

"Gate Gate Para-gate Para-Samgate Bodhi Svaha."

Identity of Relative and Absolute

(Sandokai) by Zen Master Sekito Kisen

The mind of the great sage of India was intimately conveyed from west to east.

Among human beings are wise ones and fools, but in the Way there is no northern or southern ancestor. The subtle source is clear and bright, the tributary streams flow through the darkness. To be attached to things is illusion; to encounter the absolute is not yet enlightenment.

Each and all, the subjective and objective spheres, are related, and at the same time, independent. Related, yet working differently, though each keeps its own place.

Form makes the character and appearance different; sounds distinguish comfort and discomfort. The dark makes all words one; the brightness distinguishes good and bad phrases.

The four elements return to their nature as a child to its mother. Fire is hot, wind moves, water is wet, earth hard, eyes see, ears hear, nose smells, tongue tastes the salt and sour.

Each is independent of the other. Cause and effect must return to the great reality. The words high and low are used relatively.

Within light there is darkness, but do not try to understand that darkness; within darkness there is light, but do not look for that light.

Light and darkness are a pair, like the foot before and the foot behind in walking. Each thing has its own intrinsic value and is related to everything else in function and position.

Ordinary life fits the absolute as a box and its lid. The absolute works together with the relative, like two arrows meeting in mid-air. Reading words you should grasp the great reality. Do not judge by any standards.

If you do not see the Way, you do not see it even as you walk on it. When you walk the Way it is not near it is not far. If you are deluded you are mountains and rivers away from it.

I respectfully say to those who wish to be enlightened:
“Do not waste your time by night or day.”

The Precious Mirror Samadhi

(Hokyo Zanmai) by Tozan Ryokai Zenji

The dharma of thus-ness is intimately transmitted by Buddhas and ancestors.

Now you have it, preserve it well.

A silver bowl filled with snow, a heron hidden in the moon. Taken as similar, they are not the same; not distinguished, their places are known. The meaning does not reside in the words, but a pivotal moment brings it forth.

Move and you are trapped; miss and you fall into doubt and vacillation. Turning away and touching are both wrong, for it is like massive fire. Just to portray it in literary form is to stain it with defilement. In darkest night, it is perfectly clear; in the light of dawn it is hidden.

It is a standard for all things; its use removes all suffering. Though it is not constructed, it is not beyond words. Facing a precious mirror; form and reflection behold each other.

You are not it, but in truth it is you.

Like a newborn child, it is fully endowed with five aspects. No going, no coming, no arising, no abiding; a baby babbles - is anything said or not? In the end it says nothing, for the words are not yet right.

In the illumination hexagram, apparent and real interact; stacked together they become three, the permutations make five, like the taste of the five-flavored herb, like the five-pronged vajra.

Wondrously embraced within the real, drumming and singing begin together. Penetrate the source and travel the pathways; embrace the territory and treasure the roads. You would do well to respect this; do not neglect it.

Natural and wondrous, it is not a matter of delusion or enlightenment. Within causes and conditions, time and season, it is serene and illuminating. So minute it enters where there is no gap, so vast it transcends all dimension. Just a hair's breadth's deviation and you are out of tune.

Now there are sudden and gradual, so teachings and approaches arise. With these matters distinguished, each has its standard. Mastered or not, reality constantly flows.

Outside still and inside trembling, like tethered colts or cowering rats, the ancient sages grieved for them, and offered them the dharma.

Morning Service B

Led by their inverted views, they take black for white. When inverted thinking stops, the affirming mind naturally accords. If you want to follow in the ancient tracks, please observe the sages of the past.

One on the verge of realizing the Buddha Way contemplated a tree for ten long kalpas, like a battle-scarred tiger, like a horse with shanks gone gray.

Because some are vulgar, jeweled tables and ornate robes; because some are wide-eyed, cats and white oxen.

With a great archer's skill one can hit the mark at a hundred yards, but arrows meeting head on, how could it be a matter of skill?

Wooden man starts to sing; stone woman gets up dancing. It is not reached by feelings or consciousness; how could it involve deliberation?

Ministers serve their lords, children obey their parents; not obeying is not filial, failure to serve is no help.

With practice hidden, function secretly, like a fool, like an idiot; just do to this continuously is called the host within the host.

Affirming Faith in Mind

(Hsin Hsin Ming) by Kanchi Sosan Zenji

Note: Indented lines are dropped a tone.

The Great Way is not difficult for those who do not pick and choose.

When preferences are cast aside,
the Way stands clear and un-disguised.

But even slight distinctions made set earth and heaven far apart.

If you would clearly see the truth, discard opinions pro and con.

To founder in dislike and like is nothing but the mind's disease.

And not to see the Way's deep truth disturbs the mind's essential peace.

The Way is perfect like vast space, where there's no lack and no excess.

Our choice to choose and to reject prevents our seeing this simple truth.

Both striving for the outer world as well as for the inner void condemn us to entangled lives.

Just calmly see that all is One and by themselves false views will go.

Attempts to stop activity will fill you with activity Remaining in duality, you'll never know of unity.

And not to know this unity lets conflict lead you far astray.
When you assert that things are real you miss their true reality.

But to assert that things are void also misses reality.
The more you talk and think on this the further from the truth you'll be.

Cut off all useless thoughts and words and there's nowhere you cannot go.
Returning to the root itself,
you'll find the meaning of all things.

If you pursue appearances you overlook the primal source.
Awakening is to go beyond both emptiness as well as form.

All changes in this empty world seem real because of ignorance.
Do not go searching for the truth,
just let those fond opinions go.

Abide not in duality, refrain from all pursuit of it.
If there's a trace of right and wrong,
true-mind is lost, confused, distraught.

From One-mind comes duality, but cling not even to this One.

When this One-mind rests undisturbed then nothing in the world offends.

And when no thing can give offense,
then all obstructions cease to be.

If all thought-objects disappear
the thinking subject drops away.

For things are things because of mind,
as mind is mind because of things.

These two are merely relative and both at source are emptiness.

In emptiness these are not two,
yet in each are contained all forms.

Once coarse and fine are seen no more,
then how can there be taking sides?

The Great Way is without limit, beyond the easy and the hard.

But those who hold to narrow views are fearful and irresolute;
their frantic haste just slows them down.

If you're attached to anything, you surely will go far astray.

Just let go now of clinging mind,
and all things are just as they are.
In essence nothing goes or stays.

See into the true self of things, and you're in step with the Great Way, thus walking freely, undisturbed.

But live in bondage to your thoughts, and you will be confused, unclear.

This heavy burden weighs you down – so why keep judging good and bad?

If you would walk the highest Way,
do not reject the sense domain.

For as it is, whole and complete,
this sense world is enlightenment.

The wise do not strive after goals, but fools themselves in bondage put.

The One Way knows no differences, the foolish cling to this and that.

To seek Great Mind with thinking mind is certainly a grave mistake.

From small mind come rest and unrest, but mind awakened transcends both.

Delusion spawns dualities – these dreams are merely flowers of air – why work so hard at grasping them?

Both gain and loss, and right and wrong – once and for all get rid of them.

When you no longer are asleep,
all dreams will vanish by themselves.

34

If mind does not discriminate, all things are as they are, as one.
To go to this mysterious source frees us from all entanglements.

When all is seen with “equal mind,”
to our self-nature we return.
This single mind goes right beyond all reasons and comparison.

Seek movement and there’s no-movement, seek rest and no-rest comes instead.
When rest and no-rest cease to be,
then even oneness disappears.

This ultimate finality’s beyond all laws, can’t be described.
With single mind one with the Way,
all ego-centered strivings cease.

Doubts and confusion disappear,
and so true faith pervades our life.
There is no thing that clings to us,
and nothing that is left behind.

All’s self-revealing, void and clear, without exerting power of mind.
Thought cannot reach this state of truth,
here feelings are of no avail.

In this true world of emptiness both self and other are no more.

To enter this true empty world, immediately affirm, “not-two.”

In this “not-two” all is the same, with nothing separate or outside.

The wise in all times and places awaken to this primal truth.

The Way’s beyond all space, all time,
one instant is ten thousand years.

Not only here, not only there,
truth’s right before your very eyes.

Distinctions such as large and small have relevance for you no more.

The largest is the smallest too – here limitations have no place.

What is – is not. What is not – is.

If this is not yet clear to you, you’re still far from the inner truth.

One thing is all, all things are One – know this and all’s whole and complete.

When faith and mind are not separate,
and not separate are mind and faith,
this is beyond all words, all thought.

For here there is no yesterday, no tomorrow, no today.

Genjo Koan –
The Way of Everyday Life

by Dogen Zenji

(Drop the tone on the indented lines)

(All)

When all dharmas are Buddha-Dharma – there are enlightenment and delusion, practice, life and death,
Buddhas and creatures.

When the ten thousand dharmas are without self,
There is no delusion, no enlightenment,
no Buddhas, no creatures,
no life and no death.

The Buddha Way transcends being and non-being,
therefore, there are life and death,
delusion and enlightenment,
Buddhas and creatures.

Nevertheless, flowers fall with our attachment, and weeds spring up with our aversion.

To carry the self forward and realize the ten thousand dharmas is delusion.
That the ten thousand dharmas advance and realize the self is enlightenment.

It is Buddhas who enlighten delusion. It is creatures who are deluded in enlightenment.

Further, there are those who attain enlightenment above enlightenment, there are those who are deluded within delusion.

When Buddhas are truly Buddhas, one need not be aware of being Buddha.

However, one is the realized Buddha and further advances in realizing Buddha.

Seeing forms with the whole body and mind, hearing sounds with the whole body and mind, one understands them intimately.

Yet it is not like a mirror with reflections nor like water under the moon –

When one side is realized, the other side is dark.

(Officiant or Ino)

To study the Buddha Way is to study the self.

To study the self is to forget the self.

To forget the self is to be enlightened by the ten thousand dharmas.

To be enlightened by the ten thousand dharmas is to free one's body and mind and the body and mind of others.

No trace of enlightenment remains, and this traceless enlightenment continues forever.

When one first seeks the truth one separates oneself far from its environs.

When one has already correctly transmitted the truth to oneself, one is one's original face at that moment.

When riding on a boat, if one watches the shore one may assume that the shore is moving.

But watching the boat directly, one knows that it is the boat that moves.

If one examines the ten thousand dharmas with a deluded body and mind, one will suppose that one's mind and nature are permanent.

But if one practices intimately and returns to the true self,

it will be clear that the ten thousand dharmas are without self.

(Officiant or Ino)

*Firewood turns into ash and does not turn into firewood again.
But do not suppose that the ash is after and the firewood is before.
We must realize that the firewood is in the state of being firewood and has its before and after.
Yet having this before and after it is independent of them.
Ash is in the state of being ash and has its before and after.
Just as firewood does not become firewood again after it is ash, so after one's death one does not return to life again.*

(All)

Thus, that life does not come before death is a confirmed teaching of the Buddha-Dharma.

For this reason, life is called the non-born.

That death does not become life is a confirmed teaching of the Buddha-Dharma.

Therefore, death is called the non-extinguished.

Life is a period of itself.

Death is a period of itself.

For example, they are like winter and spring. We should not think that winter becomes spring, nor should we say that spring becomes summer.

Gaining enlightenment is like the moon reflecting in the water.

The moon does not get wet
nor is the water disturbed.

Although its light is extensive and great,
the moon is reflected even in a puddle an inch across.

The whole moon and the whole sky are reflected in a dewdrop in the grass, in one drop of water.

Enlightenment does not disturb the person just as the moon does not disturb the water.

A person does not hinder enlightenment just as a dewdrop does not hinder the moon in the sky.

The depth of the drop is the height of the moon. As for the duration of the reflection -

You should examine the water's vastness or smallness, and you should discern the brightness or dimness of the heavenly moon.

(Officiant or Ino)

When the truth does not fill our body and mind, we think that we have enough.

When the truth fills our body and mind, we realize that something is missing.

(All)

For example when we view the four directions from a boat on the ocean where no land is in sight, we see only a circle and nothing else.

No other aspects are apparent.

However this ocean is neither round nor square and its realities are infinite in variety.

It is like a palace, it is like a jewel.

It just seems circular as far as the eye can reach at the time.

The ten thousand dharmas are like this.

Ordinary life and enlightened life assume many aspects, but, we only recognize and understand through practice what the penetrating power of our vision can reach.

In order to appreciate the ten thousand dharmas, we should know that although they may look round and square, the other qualities of oceans and mountains are infinite in variety.

Furthermore, other universes lie in all quarters.

It is so not only with ourselves but also right here, and in a single drop of water.

When a fish swims in the ocean, there is no end to the water - no matter how far it swims.

When a bird flies in the sky there is no end to the air - no matter how far it flies.

Yet no fish or bird has ever left its element since the beginning.

When the need is great,
the function is great.

When the need is small,
the function is small.

Thus, no creature ever comes short of its own fullness. Wherever it is, it functions freely.

If a bird leaves the air, it will die at once.

If a fish leaves the sea, it will die at once.

Know then that water is life.

Know that air is life.

Life is the bird and life is the fish.

Beyond this there is still more to see.

It is the same with practice and enlightenment, mortality and immortality.

Yet if a bird or a fish tries to move beyond the sky or sea, this bird or this fish will not find a path or place.

Attaining this Place, one's daily life reveals the truth, attaining this Way,
one's daily life reveals the truth.

This Place and this Way are not large or small, not self or other.
They neither existed before nor are arising just now.
They are just as they are.

Thus if one practices and real-i-zes
the Buddha Way, when one real-i-zes one dharma,
one penetrates one dharma.
When one encounters one activity,
one practices one activity.

Because the Place is right here and the Way leads everywhere, the limits of what can be known,
cannot be known.

This knowing and the total penetration of the Buddha-Dharma arise together and are practiced together.

Attaining this Place, do not think it becomes one's own knowledge or idea.
Even though this penetrating real-i-za-tion manifests at once, the most intimate nature is not easily understood.

Some may real-ize it and some may not.

Priest Pao-Ch'e of Ma-Ku Shan was fanning himself. A monk approached and asked, "The nature of wind is eternal, and there is no place it does not reach. Why, then, must you still fan yourself? "

(Officiant or Ino)

Although you understand "the nature of wind is eternal," you do not understand that "there is no place it does not reach."

(All)

"How does it reach everywhere?"

(Officiant or Ino)

The master just fanned her/him self.

(All)

The monk bowed with deep respect.

(All)

*This is the enlightened experience of Buddha-Dharma
And the vital way of its correct transmission.*

Those who say we should not use a fan because the wind is eternal, and so we should know the existence of wind without using a fan, know neither the eternal nor the nature of wind.

Because the nature of wind is eternally present, the wind of Buddhism actual-li-zes
the gold of the earth and turns our life's long river into sweet cream.

Metta (Loving-kindness) Sutta

This is what should be done
 By one who is skilled in good-ness
 And who knows the path of peace:
 Let them be able and up-right,
 Straight forward and gentle in speech,
 Humble and not conceited,
 Contented and easily satisfied,
 Unburdened with duties
 And frugal in their ways,
 Peaceful and calm,
 And wise and skillful,
 Not proud and demanding in nature.
 Let them not do the slightest thing

That the wise would later reprove.

Wishing: In gladness and in safety,

May all beings be at ease.

Whatever living beings there may be,

Whether they are weak or strong,

O-mit-ting none: The great or the mi-ghty,

Medium, short or small;

The seen and the unseen;

Those living near and far away,

Those born and to-be-born

May all beings be at ease.

Let none de-ceive another,

Or despise any being in any state;

Let none through anger or ill-will 48

Wish harm upon another.

Even as a mother protects with her life

Her child, her on-ly child,

So with a bound-less heart

Should one cherish all liv-ing beings;

Radiating kind-ness, over the en-ti-re world,

Spreading upwards to the skies

And downwards to the depths,

Outwards and unbounded,

Freed from hatred and ill-will.

Whether standing or walking,

Seated or lying down,

Free from drow-siness,

One should sus-tain this re-col-lec-tion.

This is said to be the sub-lime a-bi-ding:

By not holding to fixed views,

The pure hear-ted one,

Having clarity of vis-ion,

Being freed from all sense de-sires,

Is not born a-gain in-to this world.

Song of Loving Kindness

May I (you, we) be filled with Loving Kindness

May I be well.

May I be peaceful and at ease

May I be happy.

Song of Zazen

by Hakuin Zenji

From the beginning all beings are Buddhas, like water and ice; without water, no ice.
Outside us, no Buddhas.
How near the truth, yet how far we seek,
like one in water crying, "I thirst!"

Just like a child born of wealth, wandering poor on this earth,
we endlessly circle the six worlds.
The cause of our sorrow is ego delusion.
From dark path to dark path
we've wandered in darkness.
How can we be free from the wheel of samsara?
The gateway to freedom is zazen samadhi.

Beyond exaltation, beyond all our praises
the pure Mahayana.
Observing the precepts, repentance and giving,
the countless good deeds and the way of right living all come from zazen.

Thus, one true samadhi extinguishes evils,
it purifies karma, dissolving obstructions.
Then where are the dark paths to lead us astray?

The pure lotus land is not far away.
Hearing this truth, heart humble and grateful.
To praise and embrace it, to practice its wisdom brings unending blessings, brings mountains of merit.

And if we turn inward and prove our true nature, that True Self is no-self, our own self is no-self, we go beyond ego and past clever words.
Then the gate to the oneness of cause-and-effect is thrown open.

Not two and not three, straight ahead runs the way.
Our form now being no-form, in going and returning we never leave home.
Our thought now being no-thought, our dancing and songs are the voice of the dharma.

How vast is the heaven of boundless samadhi!
How bright and transparent the moonlight of wisdom!
What is there outside us? What is there we lack?

Nirvana is openly shown to our eyes.
This earth where we stand is the pure lotus land and this very body the body of Buddha.

Vow for Awakening

by Dai E Zenji

Our deepest prayer is to be firm in our determination to give ourselves completely to the Buddha's Way, so that no doubts arise however long the road seems to be;
to be light and easy in the four parts of the body;
to be strong and undismayed in body and in mind;
to be free from illness and drive out both depressed feelings and distractions;

To be free from calamity, misfortune, harmful influences and obstructions;
not to seek the Truth outside of ourselves,
so we may instantly enter the right way;
to be unattached to all thoughts that we may reach the perfectly clear bright mind of Prajna and have immediate enlightenment on the Great Matter.

Thereby we receive the transmission of the deep wisdom of the Buddhas to save all sentient be-ings who suffer in the round of birth and death.
In this way we offer our gratitude for the compassion of the Buddhas and ancestors.

Our further prayer is not to be extremely ill or to be suff'ring at the time of departure, to know its coming seven days ahead so that we can quiet the mind to abandon the body and be unattached to all things at the last moment

Wherein we return to the Original Mind in the realm of no birth and no death and merge infinitely into the whole universe to manifest as all things in their True Nature and with the great wisdom of the Buddhas to awaken all beings to the Buddha Mind.

We offer this to all Buddhas and Bodhisattva-Mahasattvas of the past, present and future in the ten quarters and to the Maha Prajna Paramita.

Bodhisattva Vow

by Torei Zenji

Disciples, when I humbly observe the true nature of things, all are the marvelous manifestation of the Tathagata's truth.
Atom by atom, instant by instant,
all are none other than this mysterious radiance.
Because of this our virtuous ancestors extended loving care and reverence toward even such beings as birds and beasts.

How, then, can we be but humbly grateful for the food, drink, and clothing that nourishes and protects us throughout the day, these being in essence the warm skin and flesh of the great masters,
the incarnate compassion of the Buddha?

If it is so even with inanimate objects, how much more should we be kind and merciful towards human beings, even those who are foolish?
Though they become our sworn enemies, reviling and persecuting us,
we should regard them as bodhisattva manifestations who, in their great compassion, are employing skillful means to help emancipate us from the twisted karma we have produced over countless kalpas through our biased, self-centered views.

If we awaken in ourselves this deep, pure faith, offering humble words and taking sincere refuge in the Buddha, then with every thought there will bloom a lotus flower, each with a Buddha.

These Buddhas will establish Pure Lands everywhere and reveal the radiance of the Tathagata beneath our very feet.

May we extend this mind throughout the universe, so that we and all sentient beings may equally bring to fruition the seeds of wisdom.

Night Chant

Even as the night darkens the green earth,

The wheel turns ~~~

Death follows birth.

See into the night with every breath. ~~~

That you may wake

Past day, past death!

Shantideva's Way of the Bodhisattva

(Chant with melody notations)

I rejoice in the vir-tue of all beings!

To help attain the Way, I offer any virtue that I have

May the pain of every living creature be completely cleared away...

May I support the life of boundless untold beings!

Just as does the earth, Enduring as space itself

May I be a bridge, a boat, and ship for all to cross the water!

May I become doctor, nurse, and medicine
For sick beings in the world.

May food and drink descend, ending thirst and hunger.

May I be the nourishment they need, until everyone is healed!

May I provide for the lost and destitute - -

Everything they need, through the night to guide them.

May this very life that I've received, liberate the world!

 May even acts of harm help the violent awaken.

 May they all come to know each and every joy.

Until free from pain, may I be life for all beings,

Throughout the ends of space!

 Everything I've gained, I joyfully surrender!

 Every step I take, I'm moving with the world.

May we all come to know the promise of this life!

Just as all buddhas embraced,
 the awakened mind.

 Just as they embodied all bodhisattva practices,

 For the sake of all, I do adopt the spirit of enlightenment.

 And will follow the way of the Bodhisattva.

Verse of Homage to Buddha's Relics

With wholehearted reverence we bow to the relics of the true body of the Tathagata Shakyamuni, who is fully endowed with myriad virtues; to the dharma body, which is the fundamental ground; and to his stupa, which is the whole universe.

With deep respect we venerate the one who manifested a body for our sake. Through the sustaining power of the Buddha, which enters us even as we enter it, we verify awakening.

By means of the Buddha's spiritual power, we benefit living beings, arouse the thought of awakening, cultivate Bodhisattva practice, and together enter perfect peace, the knowledge of the equality of all things. Now let us reverently bow.

The Five Remembrances

I am of the nature to grow old;
there is no way to escape growing old.

I am of the nature to have ill health;
there is no way to escape having ill health.

I am of the nature to die;
there is no way to escape death.

All that is dear to me and everyone I love are of the nature of change;
there is no way to escape being separated from them.

My deeds are my closest companions;
I am the beneficiary of my deeds.
my deeds are the ground on which I stand.

Song of the Grass Roofed Hermitage

by Shitou Xiqian (Sekito Kisen; 700-790)

I built a grass hut where there's nothing of value. After it was completed, fresh weeds appeared.

Now it is lived in covered by weeds.
After eating, I relax and enjoy a nap.

The person in the hut lives here calmly, not stuck to inside, outside, or in-between.

Places worldly people live, he does not live.
Realms worldly people love, she does not love. Though the hut is small, it includes the entire world.

In ten feet square, an old man illumines forms and their nature. Thus, this bodhisattva trusts without doubt.

The middling or lowly can't help wondering;
Will this hut perish or not? Perishable or not,
the original master is present,

Not dwelling south or north, east or west.
Firmly based on steadiness,
it can not be surpassed.

A shining window below the green pines – jade palaces or vermilion towers can't compare.

Just sitting with head covered all things are at rest. Thus, this mountain monk does not understand at all.

Living here she no longer works to get free.
Who would proudly arrange seats, trying to entice guests?

Turn the light to shine within, then just return.
The vast inconceivable source can not be faced or turned away from.

Meet the ancestral teachers, be intimate with their instructions, bind grasses to build a hut,
and do not give up.

Let go of hundreds of years and relax completely. Open your hands and walk, innocently.

Thousands of words, myriad interpretations, are only to free you from obstructions.

If you want to know the undying person in the hut, do not separate from this skin bag here and now.

Sharing of Blessings

(Now let us chant the verses of sharing and aspir-a-tion.)

Through the goodness that ar-i-ses from my prac-tice, may my spiri-tual tea-chers and guides of great vir-tue;
 my mother, my fa-ther and my re-latives,
 the sun and the moon,
 and all vir-tuous lea-ders of the world.
 May the highest gods and evil for-ces;
 Celes-ti-al beings,
guar-dian spir-its of the earth and the lord of death;
 may those who are frien-dly,

indifferent or hos-tile;

may all beings receive the blessings of my life.

May they soon attain the three-fold bliss and realize the death-less.

Through the goodness that ar-i-ses from my prac-tice, and through this act of shar-ing,

May all de-sires and at-tach-ments quick-ly cease, and all harmful states of mind.

Until I realize Nib-ban-a, in every kind of birth, may I have an up-right mind with mindfulness and wis-dom, aus-ter-ity and vi-gor.

May the forces of de-lu-sion not take hold nor weaken my re-solve.

The Buddha is my ex-cel-lent re-fuge, un-sur-passed is the pro-tec-tion of the Dham-ma, the solitary Bud-dha is my no-ble guide, the Sangha is my su-preme sup-port.
 Through the supreme power of all these,
 May darkness and de-lu-sion be dis-pelled.

Reflections on Universal Well-Being

May I abide in well-being

In free-dom from affliction

In free-dom from hostility

In freedom from ill-will

In free-dom from anx-i-ety

And may I main-tain well-being in myself.

May everyone abide in well-being

In free-dom from hostility

In free-dom from ill-will

In free-dom from anx-i-ety

And may they main-tain well-being in themselves.

May all beings be released from all suffering

And may they not be parted from
 The good for-tune they have attained.
 When they act upon intention
All beings are the owners of their action
 And inherit its results.
 Their future is born from such action
 Companion to such action
 And its re-sults will be their home.
All actions, with intention
 Be they skill-ful or harm-ful;
 Of such acts, they will be the heirs.

Universally Recommended Instructions for Zazen

(Fukanzazengi) by Dogen Zenji

The way is originally perfect and all pervading.
How could it be contingent on practice and realization?
The true vehicle is self-sufficient.
What need is there for special effort?
Indeed, the whole body is free from dust.
Who could believe in a means to brush it clean?
It is never apart from this very place.
What is the use of traveling around to find it?

And yet, if there is a hairsbreadth deviation,
it is like the gap between heaven and earth.
If the least like or dislike arises,
the mind is lost in confusion.
Suppose you are confident in your understanding and rich in enlightenment, gaining the wisdom that knows at a glance,
attaining the way and clarifying the mind,
arousing an aspiration to reach for the heavens.
You are playing in the entranceway,
but you are still short of the vital path of emancipation.

Consider the Buddha:
although he was wise at birth, the traces of his six years of upright sitting can yet be seen.

As for Bodhidharma,
although he had received the mind-seal,
his nine years of facing a wall is celebrated still.

If even the ancient sages were like this, how can we today dispense with wholehearted practice?

Therefore, put aside the intellectual practice of investigating words and chasing phrases, and learn to take the backward step that turns the light and shines it inward. Body and mind of themselves will drop away, and your original face will manifest. If you want such a thing, get to work on it immediately.

For practicing Zen, a quiet room is suitable. Eat and drink moderately. Put aside all involvements and suspend all affairs. Do not think “good” or “bad.” Do not judge true or false. Give up the operations of mind, intellect, and consciousness; stop measuring with thoughts, ideas, and views. Have no designs on becoming a Buddha. How could that be limited to sitting or lying down?

Place your right hand on your left leg and your left hand on your right palm, thumb-tips touching lightly.
Straighten your body and sit upright, leaning neither left nor right, neither forward nor backward.
Align your ears with your shoulders and your nose with your navel.
Rest the tip of your tongue against the front of the palate, with teeth and lips closed.
Keep your eyes open and breathe softly through your nose.

Once you have adjusted your posture, take a breath and exhale fully, rock your body right and left,
and settle into steady, immovable sitting.
Think of not thinking.
Not thinking – what kind of thinking is that?
Non-thinking. This is the essential art of zazen.

The zazen I speak of is not meditation practice.
It is simply the dharma gate of joyful ease,
the practice-realization of totally culminated enlightenment.
It is the koan realized; traps and snares can never reach it.
If you grasp the point, you are like a dragon gaining the water, like a tiger taking to the mountains.
For you must know that the true dharma appears of itself, so that from the start dullness and distraction are struck aside.

When you arise from sitting, move slowly and quietly, calmly and deliberately.
Do not rise suddenly or abruptly.

In surveying the past,
we find that transcending the mundane and the sacred,
and dying while either sitting or standing,
have depended entirely on the power of zazen.

In addition, triggering awakening with a finger, a banner, a needle, or a mallet, and effecting realization with a whisk, a fist, a staff, or a shout – these cannot be understood by discriminative thought, much less can they be known through supernatural power.
They must represent conduct beyond seeing and hearing.
Are they not a standard prior to knowledge and views?

This being so, intelligence or lack of it is not an issue;
make no distinction between the dull and the sharp-witted.
If you concentrate your effort single-mindedly, that in itself is whole-heartedly engaging the Way.
Practice- realization is naturally undefiled.
Going forward is, after all, an everyday affair.

In our world and others, in both India and China, all equally hold the Buddha-seal.
While each lineage expresses its own style,
they are all simply devoted to sitting,
totally cast in resolute stability.
Although there are ten thousand distinctions and a thousand variations, they just wholeheartedly engage the Way in zazen.

Why leave behind the seat in your own home to wander in vain through the dusty realms of other lands?
If you make one misstep,
you stumble past what is directly in front of you.

You have gained the pivotal opportunity of human form.
Do not pass your days and nights in vain.
You are taking care of the essential activity of the Buddha Way.

Who would take wasteful delight in the spark from a flint stone?
Form and substance are like dew on the grass,
the fortunes of life are like a dart of lightning – emptied in an instant, vanished in a flash.

Please, honored followers of Zen, long accustomed to groping for the elephant,
do not doubt the true dragon.
Devote your energies to the way that points directly to the real thing.
Revere the one who has gone beyond learning and is free from effort.
Accord with the enlightenment of all the Buddhas;
succeed to the samadhi of all the ancestors.

Continue to live in such a way, and you will be such a person.
The treasure store will open of itself, and you may enjoy it freely.

Verse of the Diamond Sutra

Liberation from All Obstructions

(In Appreciation of Shodo Harada, Roshi)

In the presence of Sangha, in the light of Dharma, in oneness with Buddha – may my path to complete enlightenment benefit everyone!

In this passing moment karma ripens and all things come to be.

I vow to affirm what is:

If there's cost, I choose to pay.
If there's need, I choose to give.
If there's pain, I choose to feel.
If there's sorrow, I choose to grieve.
When burning, I choose heat.
When calm, I choose peace.
When starving, I choose hunger.
When happy, I choose joy.
Whom I encounter, I choose to meet.
What I shoulder, I choose to bear.
When it's my birth, I choose to live.
When it's my death, I choose to die.
Where this takes me, I choose to go.
Being with what is, I respond to what is.

This life is as real as a dream;
the one who knows it can not be found;
and truth is not a thing, therefore I vow to choose THIS Dharma entrance gate!
May all Buddhas and Wise Ones help me live this vow.

Guidepost for the Hall of Pure Bliss

by Hongzhi Zhengjue (Wanshi Shogaku; 1091 – 1157)

By seeking appearances and sounds one cannot truly find the Way.

The deep source of realization comes with constancy, bliss, self, and purity.

Its purity is constant,
its bliss is myself.

The two are mutually dependent,
like firewood and fire.

The self's bliss is not exhausted, constant purity has no end.

Deep existence is beyond forms.
Wisdom illuminates
the inside of the circle.

Inside the circle the self vanishes, neither existent nor non-existent.

Intimately conveying spiritual energy,
it subtly turns the mysterious pivot.

When the mysterious pivot finds opportunity to turn, the original light auspiciously appears.

When the mind's conditioning has not yet sprouted, how can words and images be distinguished?

Who is it that can distinguish them?
Clearly understand and know by yourself.

Whole and inclusive with inherent insight,
it is not concerned with discriminative thought.

When discriminating thought is not involved,
it is like white reed flowers shining in the snow.

One beam of light's gleam permeates the vastness.

The gleam permeates through all directions,
from the beginning not covered or concealed.

Catching the opportunity to emerge,
amid transformations it flourishes.

Following appropriately amid transformations,
the pure bliss is unchanged.

The sky encompasses it, the ocean seals it,
every moment without deficiency,

In the achievement without deficiency, inside and outside are interfused.

All dharmas transcend their limits,
all gates are wide open.

78

Through the open gates are the byways of playful wandering.

Dropping off senses and sense objects is like the flowers of our gazing and listening falling away.

Gazing and listening are only distant conditions of thousands of hands and eyes.

The others die from being too busy,
but I maintain continuity.

In the wonder of continuity are no traces of subtle identifications.

Within purity is bliss, within silence is illumination.

The house of silent illumination is the hall of pure bliss.

Dwelling in peace and forgetting hardship,
let go of adornments and become genuine.

The motto for becoming genuine:
nothing is gained by speaking.

The goodness of Vimalakirti enters the gate of non-duality.

Dalai Lama's Vow

From: The Way of the Bodhisattva

For as long as space endures
And for as long as living beings remain
So then may I too abide
To dispel the misery of the world.

Chant for the Hungry Spirits

Calling all you hungry hearts
Everywhere through endless time
You who wander, you who thirst
I offer you this bodhi mind.

Calling all you hungry spirits
All the lost and the left behind
Calling all you hungry hearts
Everywhere through endless time
Gather round and share this meal
Your joy and your sorrow, I make it mine.

Guidepost for Silent Illumination

by Hongzhi Zhengjue (Wanshi Shogaku; 1091 – 1157)

Silent and serene, forgetting words, bright clarity appears before you.

When you reflect it you become vast,
where you embody it
you are spiritually uplifted.

Solitary and shining, inner illumination restores wonder.

Dew in the moonlight, a river of stars,
snow-covered pines,
clouds enveloping the peak.

In darkness it is most bright,
while hidden all the more manifest.

The crane dreams in the wintery mists.
The autumn waters flow far in the distance.

Endless kalpas are totally empty,
all things completely the same.

When wonder exists in serenity,
all achievement is forgotten in illumination.

What is this wonder?
Alertly seeing through confusion is the way of silent illumination and the origin of subtle radiance.

Vision penetrating into subtle radiance is weaving gold on a jade loom.

Upright and inclined yield to each other;
light and dark are interdependent.

Not depending on sense faculty and object,
at the right time they interact.

Drink the medicine of good views.
Beat the poison-smearred drum.

When they interact,
killing and giving life are up to you.

Through the gate the self emerges and the branches bear fruit.

Only silence is the supreme speech,
only illumination the universal response.

Responding without falling into achievement, speaking without involving listeners,
the ten thousand forms majestically glisten and expound the dharma.

82

All objects certify it,
each one in dialogue.

Conversing and certifying,
they respond appropriately to each other;
but if illumination neglects serenity then aggressiveness appears.

Certifying and conversing they respond to each other appropriately;
but if serenity neglects illumination, murkiness leads to wasted dharma.

When silent illumination is fulfilled,
the lotus blossoms,
the dreamer awakens.

A hundred streams flow into the ocean,
a thousand ranges face the highest peak.

Like geese preferring milk,
like bees gathering nectar,
when silent illumination reaches the ultimate,
I offer my teaching.

The teaching of silent illumination penetrates from the highest down to the foundation.

The body being empty,
the arms are in activity,

From the beginning to end the changing appearances and ten thousand differences share one pattern.

But even a gift of precious jade has its flaws.

Facing changes has its principles, the great function is without striving.

The ruler stays in the kingdom,
the general goes beyond the frontiers.

Our school's affair hits the mark straight and true.

Transmit it in all directions without desiring to gain recognition.

Abundant, exalted, immeasurable,

Without hostility and without ill will.

The Highest Blessings

(Mangala Sutta)

Thus have I heard that the Blessed One - was staying at Savatthi, residing at the Jeta's Grove - in Ana-tha-pindika's park.

Then in the dark of the night, a radiant deva, illuminated all Jeta's Grove.

She bowed down low before the Blessed One,

then standing to one side she said:

"Devas are concerned for happiness, and ever long for peace.

The same is true for humankind.

What then are the highest blessings?"

"Avoiding those of foolish ways, associating with the wise,
 and hon-or-ing those worthy of honor.
These are the highest blessings."

"Living in places of suitable kinds, with the fruits of past good deeds,
 and guided by the rightful way.
These are the highest blessings."

"Accomplished in learning - and crafts-man skills, with discipline, highly trained, and speech that is true and pleasant to hear.
These are the highest blessings."

"Providing for mother and father's support, and cherishing family,

ways of work that harm no being.

These are the highest blessings."

"Giving with Dhamma in the heart, offering help to relatives and kin,

acting in ways that leave no blame.

These are the highest blessings."

"Steadfast in restraint, and shunning evil ways, avoiding intoxicants that dull the mind,

heedfulness in all that a-ri-ses.

These are the highest blessings."

"Respectfulness and humble ways,
 ▼
 contentment and gratitude,
 ▼
 ▲ ▲ ▲
 and hearing the Dhamma frequently taught.
 ▲ ▲
These are the highest blessings."

"Patience and willingness -
 ▲
 to accept one's faults,
 ▲ ▲
 seeing venerated seekers of the truth,
 ▼
 ▲
 and sharing words of the Dhamma.
 ▲ ▲
These are the highest blessings."

"The Holy Life lived with ardent effort,
 ▲ ▲
 seeing for oneself the Noble Truths,
 ▼
 the real-i-zation of Nibbana.
 ▼
 ▲ ▲
These are the highest blessings."

"Although involved in worldly ways, unshaken the mind remains,
 beyond all sorrow, spotless, secure.
These are the highest blessings."

"They who live by following this path, know victory wherever they go,
 and every place for them is safe.
These are the highest blessings."

All ~~~~ Beings, All~~~~~ Buddhas,

Standing deep inside the truth,

Yet however far we seek.

Wandering in darkness,

Still the wheel keeps turning.

Endlessly circling,

Circling delusion.

- Turning from samsaric dreams,

Za~~zen Samadhi.

Humble with a grateful heart,
Whispers of the lotus land,

Seeking inward vanishes, Empty self the ever being,

Resting in a single mind,
Never turning.

- Darkness falling through the stillness,
Zazen Samadhi.

- Songs of heaven vast and boundless, Moonlight; Samadhi.

Traveling through formlessness, Never leaving home.

- This land is the Lotus Land,
And this body Buddha.

Formal Meal Verses

Before Meals

Buddha was born in Kapilavastu, Enlightened in Magadha, Taught in Varanasi, Entered nirvana in Kushinagara.
 Now we set out Buddha's bowls.
 May we, with all beings realize the emptiness of the three wheels - giver, receiver, and gift.

Leader: (before serving)

In the midst of the Three Treasures which verify our understanding, entrusting ourselves to the Sangha, we invoke:

(begin serving)

Vairochana Buddha pure Dharmakaya, Locana Buddha complete Sambhogakaya, Shakyamuni Buddha myriad Nirmanakaya, Maitreya Buddha of future birth,
 All Buddhas throughout space and time,
 Lotus of the Wondrous Dharma Mahayana Sutra, Manjushri Bodhisattva of great wisdom,
 Samantabhadra Bodhisattva of great activity,
 Avalokiteshvara Bodhisattva of great compassion, Ksitigarbha Bodhisattva of great vows,
 All honored ones, Bodhisattvas, Mahasattvas, Wisdom beyond wisdom,
 Maha Prajna Paramita.

Leader: (at breakfast after serving)

This morning meal of ten benefits nourishes us in our practice. Its rewards are boundless, filling us with ease and joy

Leader: (at lunch after serving)

The three virtues and six tastes of this meal are offered to Buddha and Sangha. May all sentient beings in the universe be equally nourished.

(before eating)

We reflect on the effort that brought us this food and consider how it comes to us.

We reflect on our virtue and practice, and whether we are worthy of this offering.

We regard it as essential to keep the mind free from excesses such as greed.

We regard this food as good medicine to sustain our life.

For the sake of enlightenment we now receive this food.

Oh spirits, we now give you an offering:

This food is for all of you in the Ten Directions.

First, this is for the Three Treasures

Next, for the four benefactors;

Finally, for the beings in the six realms may all be equally nourished.

The first bite is to end all evil.
The second is to cultivate all good.
The third is to free all beings,
May we all realize the Buddha Way.

Bowl Cleaning

We use this water to wash our bowls, it tastes like heavenly nectar.
We offer it to the many spirits to satisfy them.
Om, Maha-ku-sha-laya Svaha!

Leader: (after meal)

Abiding in this ephemeral world like a lotus in muddy water, the mind is pure and goes beyond.
In gratitude we bow to Buddha.

Notes on Gassho and Bowing

by Taizan Maezumi Roshi (revised)

Many people ask about gassho (hands palm to palm) and bows (or prostrations). They ask, “Why do we do them and what do they mean?” And “How do you do them correctly?” These questions deserve careful consideration.

It should be noted that the gassho and the bow are common to all sects of Buddhism. When Shakyamuni Buddha’s enlightenment occurred, he went to see five of his former comrades with whom he had practiced various austerities and spiritual disciplines prior to his enlightenment.

These five men, who were very devout monks, had felt that their companion went astray when he abandoned their customary practices. “Come,” they said to each other, “Let’s not pay any attention to poor Gautama, he no longer is one of us.” But when the Buddha approached them, they were so struck by his serenity and the radiance of his personality, that they spontaneously placed their palms together and greeted him with full bows. Perhaps it is a little misleading to say that they greeted him. More accurately, it should be said that they were bowing not to their old friend Gautama, but rather to the Buddha--the Enlightened One.

What the Buddha has experienced was the Supreme Great Enlightenment (in Sanskrit, Anuttara-Samyak-Sambodhi), the direct and conscious realization of the oneness of the whole universe, and of his own unity with all things. This is what enlightenment means. The very realization is actually in itself the act of being the Buddha. And it was to this enlightened state that the five monks bowed.

When the Buddha was enlightened, the first thing he said was: “Wonder of wonders! All sentient beings have this same (enlightened) nature!” What this implies is that in bowing to the Buddha, the monks were actually bowing to themselves, and to all beings. These monks were recognizing the great unity which their former companion had directly and profoundly experienced.

The word gassho literally means “to place the two palms together.” Of all the mudras (symbolic hand-gestures or positions) we use, it is perhaps the most fundamental, for it arises directly from the depths of enlightenment. Most commonly it is employed to express respect, to prevent scattering of the mind, to unify all polarities (such as left and right, passive and dominant, etc.) and to express the One Mind--the total unity of Being.

How to make a Gassho

It is made by placing the hands together, palm to palm, in front of the face. The fingers are straight, placed together, while the palms are slightly pressed together so that they meet. The elbows are held somewhat out from the body, the upper arms are not quite parallel with the floor. There is about one fist's distance between the tip of the nose and the hands. Fingertips are at about the same height from the floor as the top of the nose. The eyes should be focused upon the tips of the middle fingers. This gassho has the effect of helping to establish an alert and reverential state of mind. No matter when it is used the fundamental point of the gassho is to be one with the Three Treasures: Buddha, Dharma and Sangha.

Of course, we can look at the Three Treasures from many perspectives, and with varying degrees of depth and clarity. At perhaps the most superficial level, the Three Treasures are seen as external objects of supreme reverence for all Buddhists. Unfortunately, in this view, the Three Treasures tend to be perceived as something other than oneself. But as our vision opens up, we experience that each of us is, in fact, the Buddha.

We see clearly that everything we encounter in the world is none other than the Dharma—the functioning of underlying enlightenment. And, realizing the oneness of all beings, we come to realize that the Sangh--the all-embracing community of practice is simply all composite things, including each of us. Having this awareness, we become or rather, we are---one with the Three Treasures.

So, joining our hands palm to palm, we simultaneously create and express the absolute, the oneness which goes beyond all dichotomies. It is from this perspective that we make the gassho, and that we bow.

How to Bow

Dogen Zenji once said, “As long as there is true bowing, the Buddha Way will not deteriorate.” In bowing, we totally pay respect to the all-pervading virtue of wisdom, which is the Buddha.

When we bow, it is always accompanied by gassho, although the gassho itself may not always be accompanied by bowing. There are two main kinds of bows which we use in our daily practice.

1. The Standing Bow

This bow is used upon entering the zendo, and in greeting one another and our teachers. The body is erect, with the weight distributed evenly and the feet parallel to each other. The hands are held in gassho. To bow, the body bends at the waist, so that the torso forms an angle with the legs of approximately 45 degrees. The hands (in gassho) do not move relative to the face, but remain in position and move only with the whole body.

2. The Deep or Full Bow

This bow is most often used at the beginning and end of services, and upon entering and leaving sanzen (or interviews with the teacher). It is somewhat more formal than the standing bow, and requires continuous concentration during its execution so that it is not sloppily done.

The full bow begins like the standing bow, but once the body is bent from the waist, the knees also bend and one assumes a kneeling position. From the kneeling position, the movement of the torso continues with the hands separating and moving, palms upward, into a position parallel with the forehead. As the bowing movement progresses, the backs of the hands and the forehead come to rest on the floor. At this point, the body is touching the floor at knees, elbows, hands, and forehead. The hands are then slowly raised, palms upward and parallel to the floor, to a point just above the ears.

The hands then slowly return to the floor. This action is a symbolic placing of the Buddha's feet above one's head as an act of reverence and humility. Once the hands have been raised and lowered, rise to stand again with the hands still in gassho. In bowing, movement should not be jerky or disjointed, but should flow smoothly and continuously without either disruption or arrested motion.

Zen Master Ōbaku bowed so frequently for so long that he had a large callus on his forehead at the point where it touched the hard floor. He was also famous for frequently admonishing his students, "Don't expect anything from the Three Treasures."

Time after time he was heard to say this. One day when Master Ōbaku was bowing he was challenged by a student about this practice, "You always tell your students not to expect anything from the Three Treasures and yet you constantly make deep bows. What do you expect to gain from this?"

Master Ōbaku replied, "I don't expect anything. I just bow." This is the state of being one with the Three Treasures.

光明藏三昧 - Kōmyōzō Zanmai

The Practice of the Treasury of Luminosity

I sincerely offer these words of advice to those who wish to truly practise:

Do not be pulled around by states of mind or objects. Do not rely on intellectual knowledge. Don't show in your hands what you receive on your seat in the Monks' Hall. Just throw body and mind into the Great Treasury of Luminosity and don't look back.

Don't try to fabricate "enlightenment" or hide from "delusion". Don't push away the arising of thoughts or crave them; don't identify. Stably, calmly, practice shikantaza, just sitting.

If you do not propagate thoughts, they will not continue themselves. Just breathing in. Just breathing out. Just so. Sitting under the open sky, weightless as a flame. Even if eighty-four thousand thoughts come and go, each will display itself as the luminosity of perfect knowing itself if you do not hold to them and allow them to just go on their own way.

This display of luminosity must not just be something you experience in sitting but in each step. This step, this step, are all the walking of luminosity. All through the day be dead to personal views or fragmented thoughts.

Breathing in, breathing out, hearing, touching, without thoughts of separation, is just the silent illumination of luminosity in which body and mind are single. Thus, when someone calls, you immediately answer.

In this luminosity usual people and sages, deluded and enlightened are one. In the midst of impermanence, this luminosity is unobstructed. Forests, flowers, grasses, leaves; humans and animals; large or small, long or short, square or round: all display themselves simultaneously, free of discriminating thoughts or intention. This is luminosity unobstructed in impermanence. Luminosity is its own open brilliance; it does not depend on your mind.

Luminosity has no location. When Buddhas appear in this universe, it does not arise with them. When Buddhas cease, luminosity does not cease. When you are born, luminosity is not born; when you die, luminosity does not die. Buddhas do not have more of it; sentient beings do not have less. If you are deluded, it is not; if you are enlightened, it is not. It has no rank, no form, and no name. This is the Body of Totality of all things.

You cannot grasp it; you cannot throw it away. It is unattainable. Although it is unattainable, it penetrates this whole body. From the highest heaven to the deepest hell, all realms are illuminated perfectly. This is wondrous and inconceivably subtle luminosity.

If you trust and open to the meaning of these words, you won't need to ask anyone what is right or wrong. You will intimately realise reality as if you'd come face to face with your grandfather in the village. Don't practise in order to receive a paper of certification from your teacher or predictions about when you will become a Buddha. Even less so should you be attached to clothes, food or home. Don't give in to attachment or lustful cravings.

From beginninglessness, this samadhi is the seat of Awakening, the Ocean of Awake Awareness. This zazen is the Buddha's own practice, the sitting as Awake Awareness which is transmitted from Buddha to Buddha. You are a child of the Awakened Ones, so sit calmly in his own seat. Don't sit like a hell dweller, a hungry ghost or animal, a human being or jealous beings, or shining beings, those with only hearsay knowledge or those who fabricate enlightenment experiences. Just practice this just sitting of shikantaza. Do not waste time. This is the practice place of Ordinary Mind. This is the complete practice of the Treasury of Luminosity. This is inconceivable freedom.
